Dipping our Toe into Multi-Media

A Faculty and Instructional Designer Collaboration Success Story

Ray Lum – Associate Teaching Professor Emeritus
Melissa Kaufman – Director of Online Learning
Larissa Mogano – Senior Media and Video Technologies Specialist
Introductions

[BIO PHOTOS]
Learning Objectives

• Describe the process for creating faculty produced videos that engage students

• Describe the process for creating student produced videos that align with learning outcomes

• Discuss the successes and challenges of using multimedia to increase overall quality of courses.
Participant Poll
Instructor Generated Video

Brian Eager, 2012 CCBY
Creating the Scrip

Caleb Roenigk, 2012 CCBY
Exercise

1. Script Writing & Recording
2. Reading off a teleprompter
Studio Experience
Editing

Enokson, 2005 CCBY
Video Excerpt
Week 7: ApprenNet Challenge

11 Submissions - Assigned by Melissa Kaufman

---

Respond to the challenge

For this week you again have two goals. The first is to reflect on two of the innovation models from this week’s readings and answer one of the following questions:

---

Tips for a better video

Submissions are open for Learners, but your role does not allow you to submit. This knowledge base article will show you what Learners can see.
Practice

Reinforce skills.
Facilitate feedback.
Increase collaboration.
Share expertise.

Continuous learning for the digital age.
Resources
Thank you!

Ray Lum – rl27@drexel.edu
Melissa Kaufman – mjk397@drexel.edu
Larissa Mogano – ljm323@drexel.edu